

City's Art Deco gets global stamp

4 May 2018

We learnt yesterday that city-based Art Deco Mumbai, a platform to create awareness of the architectural style and its expanse, second only to Miami, has made important inroads. Their international outreach programme objective was to put the city's buildings on the global map, and now we hear that the International Coalition of Art Deco Societies (ICADS), a nodal organisation to educate and preserve this style with members across 13 countries, has just inducted the trust as its newest member. More power to Mumbai.
